THINGS I NEED TO REMEMBER

(In these "tough times")

I ate supper last night and breakfast this morning and intend to eat both lunch and supper today.

I slept last night in a warm bed, in a warm house.

I am able to wear different clothing from that which I wore yesterday because I own a selection of clothes and so does my family.

I did not have to walk to my destinations for business or work. I own a car that runs well and provides shelter from bad weather when I am riding in it.

I live in a city that operates various services for its citizens, including police protection.

I live in a country in which I can move from region to region without having to have special papers for that purpose.

I live in a country where I can believe and follow Jesus Christ according to the Scriptures without a constant threat against my life or livelihood on account of my faith.

I, along with my brethren, take part in the activities of a church that we did not establish—but was brought into being in the first century by Jesus and planted years ago in this community by our ancestors (some physical and spiritual resources).

I have family and friends who continue to love me in spite of my shortcomings and failures.

I serve a God who has promised to be with me, never forsaking me (Hebrews 13:5, 6).

Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I will say, Rejoice.

Let your reasonableness be known to everyone. The Lord is at hand; do not be anxious about anything, but in everything by prayer & supplication with thanksgiving, let your request be made known to God. And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard

your heart & minds in Christ Jesus (Philippians 4:4-7, ESV).
